

Marci was born and raised in Madison, Wisconsin. She recently moved to North Palm Beach with her husband, Kevin, and her son, Micah.

She graduated from Illinois State University and went into academic support programming for student athletes. Following her time in college athletics, she spent several years consulting on employee benefit programs.

Upon moving to Florida, Marci focused on raising her son and establishing a footprint in their new home. She discovered her passion for developing experiential learning environments for children and decided to join the First Pres Preschool Team.
